Report

The Department of Humanities and Sciences, CMR Engineering College, organized an Interactive Session on Universal Human Values (UHV-I) as part of the AICTE Student Induction Programme (SIP) on 11th and 12th August 2026.

The session was conducted by Dr. Madhusudhan Patlola, who introduced students to the importance of universal human values in personal, social, and professional life. Through interactive discussions and practical examples, students were encouraged to reflect on self-awareness, happiness, relationships, responsibility, ethical behaviour, and harmony with society and nature.

The session highlighted that technical knowledge should be complemented by ethical values, empathy, responsibility, and positive relationships for the holistic development of students and future professionals.

Students actively participated in the discussions and expressed their views and experiences. The programme provided an engaging platform for students to understand the relevance of human values in their everyday lives and future careers.

Conclusion

The session was successfully conducted and received a positive response from the students. It contributed to the objectives of the AICTE Student Induction Programme by promoting value-based thinking, responsible behaviour, and holistic development among students.

The programme concluded with a vote of thanks to the resource person, management, faculty members, and students for their valuable support and participation.
